Man drowns in holiday tragedy

'The best son': Mark Porter, who drowned yesterday morning while swimming in Spain.

THE devastated parents of a Haverhill man who drowned while swimming on holiday have spoken of their grief.

Pub chef Mark Porter, 29, drowned along with Michelle Clydesdale, 24, after they met on a night out on holiday in the Spanish resort of Salou.

The pair went into the sea for a midnight swim but after being reportedly struck by 'freak waves' and battered against rocks, both were washed up dead at 2.30am yesterday morning.

Bill Porter, 55, and his wife Polly, 55, were told their only son had died by his best friend who had tried in vain to pull him from the water.

Administrator Polly, who lives with her husband in Haverhill, answered a phone call from Mark's housemate and best friend, Lewis Rice, 24, at 3.30am.

She said: "His best friend rang me and I immediately knew something was wrong."

"He couldn't speak on the other end of the phone and all he said was 'I can't tell you, I can't say the words'."

"He told me Mark was dead. I

Family's grief as 'freak waves' claim only son broke down in tears and I just cannot believe he's gone – he was the best son anyone could ever ask for.

"He really valued his friends, he worked hard and he played hard. He was intelligent, funny and so loved by so many."

His father, logistics manager Bill, said his 6ft tall, 18 stone son, who worked at The Bell Pub in Haverhill, was "a real character" and a popular member of his pub pool team.

He added: "He would fill a room with laughter and fun and he was also a huge Arsenal fan – football was his real passion."

Mark had been on holiday in Salou after flying out with three friends from Luton airport last Friday and were planning to spend the time relaxing on the beach and by the pool.

Mark was with his life-long friends, factory worker Lewis, publican Ian Farrant, 32, and restaurant manager Mark Smith, 25.

But tragedy struck after Mark had gone to a local bar with his friends to watch Arsenal play in the Champions League.

During the evening the group met Michelle, who is believed to be from Scotland, and two of her friends. Around 1am they ventured into the sea for a night time swim.

As they cooled off in the water they were reportedly struck by huge waves which eye witnesses claim "came from nowhere".

The group were left fighting for their lives as they were battered by the waves and sucked out to sea before being swept towards nearby rocks.

Mark and Michelle, who were in the water up to their waists, were swept away despite frantic attempts by their friends to save them.

Mark's body was washed upon the beach a few minutes later and Michelle's body was found washed up on nearby rocks.

Jemma Mansfield, 22, the mother of Mark's godchild, Kaci, 2, said he was a wonderful man and much loved member of the local community.

She said: "He was a dedicated godfather and a wonderful friend to so many people."

Join quest to find little girl

A NEW TWIST has been added to a popular Halloween attraction with dragons, goblins and ghosts in an enchanted forest.

Haverhill Town Council's free and hugely popular Halloween Trail takes on a spooky twist this year when for the first time visitors and their families will join a quest to find a little girl, lost somewhere in 'The Enchanted Forest'. In a world of dragons, wizards, goblins, ghosts and other weird and wonderful creatures, all is not what it seems. Many will try to help in the quest but not all can be trusted. Keep your wits about you.

The Enchanted Forest runs from 7pm at East Town Park on Friday, October 30.

Event organiser Nick Keeble said: "It has always been a challenge to keep this event new and fresh without repeating the characters who inhabit the trail. The Invisible Circus will be creating a unique experience that will be based around a story, which will be another first. This night is always a favourite and we hope that Halloween Trail regulars will enjoy what we have on offer in 2009."

The Halloween Trail Enchanted Forest will be brought to life by more than 20 members of The Invisible Circus based in Bristol. The company regularly organise large scale events in Bristol and beyond and most recently presented a five-day sell-out of their amazing theatrical circus experience, Carny Ville.

The event is suitable for all the family and is free to attend. Wear sensible footwear, take a torch if you want to and be prepared for all weathers. Dressing up is encouraged and as there is limited parking on site, visitors are encouraged to walk to the event or use local car parks.

Plea to parents: Sarah Neale and her daughter Sophie are members of a dyspraxia group and are trying to raise awareness of the condition.

Mum calls for others to join support group

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

An 11-year-old girl who was two years behind with her school work has caught up at top speed, after being diagnosed with dyspraxia and receiving the support she needed.

Sophie Neale, 11, was not diagnosed with the condition until she was nine, after struggling to cope through all her early school years. Since Sophie was diagnosed, her mother Sarah has received great help from the Dyspraxia Foundation and formed a local group to help other parents cope with their children's condition, often known as the hidden disability. Although the group has 50 people on its books, Sarah is the only one from Haverhill. As part of National Dyspraxia Awareness Week she decided to try to raise awareness of the condition and encourage more local parents to join the group.

Sarah said she had never heard of dyspraxia before Sophie was diagnosed and had put her difficulty in concentrating, being fidgety and clumsy down to something like ADHD.

Sarah said: "As a parent I felt really isolated, I did not know anyone else with the condition or with children who had the condition. Then I came across the Dyslexia Foundation and found out about ways of supporting her. Since then she has got on really well and although she was two years behind when she was diagnosed, she has now caught up."

"She has always loved school, but she cannot always read body language and social cues, which makes her seem different. Sometimes it makes it hard for her to make friends and keep them."

"She had a lot of one-to-one sessions and extra tuition to help her catch up in maths and literacy. She has just started at Linton Village College and is doing really well."

"There must be loads of people in Haverhill who have children with dyspraxia, there is supposed to be one in every class, many of them undiagnosed. I would really like to see more people from Haverhill at the group, as we can all help each other."

The Haverhill group meets at The Centre for Voluntary Agencies in Lower Down Slade, Haverhill, once a month from 6.30pm on Tuesdays, and anyone interested in joining can contact Sarah on (01440) 708102 or 07729 104054.

It is open to parents from all over Suffolk who share experiences, exchange views and tips and generally support each other.

Lost items returned

A GRATEFUL mother wants to thank a Good Samaritan who returned her son's lost driving licence and bus pass through the letterbox at the family home.

Andrew Carter, 19, had lost the items after taking a trip to Bury St Edmunds about two weeks ago and as they had not been handed in, was planning to get new ones issued at a cost of £20 for the licence alone.

Brenda Oakley-Carter said the missing items had both been pushed through the door of their home in Boyton Close, Haverhill, so they were not able to thank the person responsible. She said: "It really does restore your faith in people and we would like to say thank you to who ever it was for going to all the trouble of returning them."

Tickets call

THERE is still time to buy last minute tickets in a charity draw organised by a hair salon aiming to raise £1,000 for a cancer charity.

Jan Mayell, owner of Enigma Hair in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, survived breast cancer which was diagnosed four years ago, just after she took over the salon. She has already raised £600 by completing the Race for Life, and is spearheading the latest initiative to raise the money for Breakthrough Breast Cancer.

More than 20 Haverhill businesses have donated prizes for the raffle, which will be drawn at the end of Cancer Research Week on Saturday at 5pm. Raffle tickets can be obtained by calling in at Enigma or calling (01440) 702513.

Keep your property safe as nights draw in

POLICE are issuing advice to homeowners to keep their property safe as the evenings grow darker and the clocks go back this weekend.

Criminals can take advantage of the darker evenings and worsening weather, but there are simple measures residents can take to protect their property.

Suffolk police remind people to always keep doors and windows locked and keep outbuildings secure. Sheds and garages can also be protected with a battery-operated security alarm.

Fix mesh or bars on the inside of shed or garage windows to deter criminals from breaking in. Never hide a spare key somewhere outside the property, a burglar will know where to look.

Keep vehicles in secure garages where available, or parked in a well-lit area.

Security mark valuables with your postcode and house number and take photos of any valuable items.

Move equipment like barbecues and lawnmowers out of your garden and into a secure shed or garage.

You can register with a free database called Immobilise at www.immobilise.com

This national system is used by most police forces, including Suffolk – all you need to do is enter the serial number of your phone, computer, MP3 player, bike or anything else with such a code, and update the system if it is lost or stolen.

If the police seize stolen property, or an item is found, officers can search the database to find the owner.

Consider installing security lights to deter thieves – ones which react to failing natural light are recommended. Lights and radios inside houses can also be placed on a timer, to come on when the house is empty to give the impression that someone is at home.

Any suspicious activity should be reported to police on (01473) 613500 or 999 if a crime is in progress.

Further crime prevention advice can be found on the website www.suffolk.police.uk

Service appeal to check alarms

SUFFOLK Fire and Rescue Service is urging people to check their smoke alarms as they turn their clocks back this weekend.

Assistant chief fire officer (ACFO) Gary Phillips said: "It's important that people check their smoke alarms regularly and there's no better time to do it than now."

"Smoke alarms act as an early warning sign and, in recent months in Suffolk, many have helped to save lives."

The service advises people to check their alarms each week by pressing the button. The battery should be replaced once a year, unless it's a 10-year alarm, vacuum and wipe the alarm casing twice a year to ensure dust isn't blocking the sensor and never remove the battery to use it for other purposes.

ACFO Phillips said: "We know that smoke alarms save lives. They can give you and your family the necessary warning to get out in the early stages of a fire, which should in turn allow us to get to you more quickly."

The fire service carries out free home fire safety checks where they fit a free smoke alarm as part of the process. They also provide fire safety advice and help to identify fire risks within a home.

To arrange a free home fire safety check contact the community safety team on (01473) 260 586.

Owners sought after dog bites girl on face

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN angry mum whose 6-year-old daughter was bitten on the face by a dog in a playground is urging people to help police trace its owners.

Chanelle Peters was in the playground close to her home in Colbeck Road on the Meadowlands estate, Haverhill, with brother Connor, 9, and sister Angelica, 8, when a couple came by with a golden spaniel-type dog.

The children asked if they could stroke the dog and were told they could and that his name was Jake. The dog then bit Chanelle on the face and the children ran home.

Sharon Peters said she had been horrified when she saw her daughter covered in blood with a cut just underneath her eye.

Chanelle was taken to the town's walk-in clinic, where a triangular cut just underneath her eye was glued and another bite on her arm was treated.

Mrs Peters said: "They went down there to play in the little baby playground which is only two seconds away from the house."

"They all came running home and she was covered in blood, all over her new coat. The other two were really worried, they thought she would have to go to hospital."

"I was more annoyed than anything that the dog owners did not bring her home. You would have thought if your dog has just bitten a little girl, you would take her straight home.

"She has always been taught not to stroke a dog without asking first and they had said 'yes, she could' and that its name was Jake."

"Then they just stood there after the dog had bitten her and as the children ran home they went off on their own way."

"It could have been a lot worse, she could have lost her eye. She is all right now, but it did really frighten her. She loves dogs and has always been really gentle with animals, but this has put her off a bit."

Police are appealing for information about the incident which happened at Hales Barn Road between 9.45am and 9.50am on Saturday.

They have issued descriptions of the couple involved. The man was white, with dark spiked hair and the woman had shoulder-length blonde hair.

The dog was between one and a half and two feet high and was called Jake.

If you have any information about the incident, phone Pc Victoria Anthistle at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Anger over 'lenient' sentence

A GRIEVING father has hit out at a "lenient" sentence given to the woman who killed his son in a head-on crash.

Carey Oxborrow, 29, was jailed for 18 months at the Old Bailey, in London, last week after she "inexplicably" drove her car on the wrong side of the A1307, near Linton, before smashing into a Nissan Micra driven by Dale Roberts.

The 47-year-old father-of-four, from Brampton, died at the scene in front of his 16-year-old son Dale, who escaped with minor injuries.

Oxborrow, who has suffered from schizophrenia for 12 years, has been unable to remember or refused to say why she drove so erratically on June 21 last year.

She admitted causing death by dangerous driving and will be released in just nine months after serving half her 18-month term. She was also banned from driving for three years

Speaking outside the court, the victim's father, Ernest Roberts, 74, said: "Someone can get 16 months in prison for flouting health and safety orders, yet someone can get a sentence like this for killing someone."

"In three years she can drive again and get on with her life. We have got to live with this for the rest of our lives."

The court heard Oxborrow had pulled in to a designated filter lane to turn right as she travelled eastbound, but did not take the bend. Instead, she continued into oncoming traffic at 50mph for 130 metres, making no attempt to brake as she smashed into Mr Roberts' vehicle.

Sentencing her, Mr Justice Bean QC said: "His death is a tragedy for all of his family, four generations of them, especially his teenage son."

He added: "This is a case of loss of concentration by a driver with tragic consequences."

New chief takes charge

THE East of England Ambulance Service is getting a new chief operating officer.

David Donegan will take up his post in December, with responsibility for all day-to-day operations of the trust.

Mr Donegan is currently director of the Office of the Strategic Health Authorities and is a member of the NHS Management Board.

He said: "It is a privilege to be offered the chance to work with the team at the East of England Ambulance Service."

"I am looking forward to building on the progress made at the trust, delivering an even better quality service for patients."

Showcase on careers

AN OPPORTUNITY for students and their parents to look at the range of career and further education options open to them was showcased at a school.

Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill hosted representatives from universities, colleges, public services, the armed forces and local businesses who attended a Careers Convention on Tuesday.

They spent the day meeting and talking with students and families about the many different career options available to school leavers.

Parents and students from all year groups were encouraged to 'drop in' and talk to people about careers, employment, training and education and take home information and advice.

Head teacher Howard Lay said: "With lifelong learning being a national priority, the careers convention will help our students to get a better idea of what opportunities are out there."

Carpet firm's banner stays

A CARPET company can keep its plastic advertising banner outside a store despite objections to it from a town council.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee held a special meeting to discuss the application by Carpetright for advertising consent for the banner sign to the front of its building at the Focus store on the Cambridge Retail Park at Park Road, Haverhill.

Haverhill Town Council had objected to the application, saying that a pvc banner was not appropriate and it was felt a more permanent material should be used. A report to the committee said the design and siting of the signage was considered appropriate and that on a non-listed building, outside the conservation area, the use of plastic was felt to be acceptable.

Thieves raid containers

THIEVES broke into two containers by cutting padlocks and stole paints and solvents from premises at Piperell Way, Haverhill, between 6.30pm and 7pm on Wednesday last week. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Van taken from unit

A WHITE Peugeot 206 van, registration NU54 UKX, was stolen from outside an industrial unit at Spring Rise, Haverhill, between 11.30pm last Thursday and 4.30pm on Friday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau (CIB) on 01473 613500 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Arsonists hit garage

A GARAGE was set alight at Leather Lane, Haverhill, at around 5.30pm on Sunday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Guy Ainsworth at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

'More variety in retail please'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PART of Haverhill town centre should be bulldozed and redeveloped to improve the variety of shops on offer, according to a business chief.

Richard Herbert, chairman of Haverhill Enterprise, was speaking at the opening of the group's sixth business exhibition held at the town's refurbished leisure centre on Friday and Saturday.

Stephen Robertson, director general of the British Retail Consortium, opened the exhibition, which had a record number of 50 stands from local firms.

Mr Herbert said although Haverhill had continued to expand despite the recession, with new developments such as the cinema complex, opening of the Tesco store and Iceland, as well as the £5 million refit at the leisure centre, its retail offer was still quite limited.

He said: "We have a significant imbalance in retail, we don't have the variety that we need. There are plenty of food shops, but we don't have enough retailers in some of the critical areas like men's clothes and furniture.

"We would like to see Queens Square and the north side of Queen Street bulldozed. I would just encourage, from a business point of view, someone to get hold of it."

Mr Robertson said one in ten jobs across the country was in the retail industry, but in Haverhill the figure was only about half this. He had been presented with a list by town centre manager Tina Hanks of stores she would like to see in Haverhill, including Marks and Spencer and Next.

He said: "I have asked store managers how they feel about Haverhill and found unanimously that they were full of confidence about growth and employment prospects for the future."

"Town centres across the country are suffering, but in Haverhill your town centre is clearly becoming a nexus to bring people into it to spend their money. I will work hard to make sure you have the right shops in future."

Residents angered by wall vandalism

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ELDERLY residents got a rude awakening when vandals wrecked a wall outside their home.

Large concrete blocks had been pushed off the entire length of the wall outside the Place Court home for the elderly in Camps Road, Haverhill, in the early hours of Sunday.

Eileen Sizer, a team leader at the home which has 31 beds, said a number of them were woken up by the noise.

She said: "When we came into work we saw the damage. The heavy blocks were all on the pavement and had to be moved. Several of the residents were woken by the noise and it must have been quite frightening for them."

"There is just no respect for anything any more. It is such a shame because we are in such a lovely location here."

Charles Lloyd, 94, said: "I heard a lot of noise and I was not going to get out of bed, but I did call the carer. I don't sleep very well anyway, so I could do without things like this. The trouble is they get away with it."

Wheelchair-bound grandfather Mick Marsh, 75, said: "I was woken up by a lot of shouting and I thought it was just yobs going home from the pub.

"I did not know what was happening and I could not believe they managed to do so much damage without any noise – all I heard was shouting. I just cannot understand them. We might have gone out and got drunk, but we did not damage anything or anybody."

Beryl Keep, who helps run the nearby Red Cross Centre, said residents were very upset by the damage caused.

"Some of the residents were woken up at about 2am by the noise. It looks absolutely dreadful. The huge concrete boulders have been pushed on to the pavement along the whole length of the wall. We had our wall done at the Red Cross and it cost us £1,000. It is absolutely disgusting to do something like that outside a home for the elderly."

A spokesman for the police confirmed that damage was caused to the wall at the front of the property at around 1.30am on Sunday, with 10-20ft of coping stones pushed off the top onto the pavement.

A group of males were seen to run from the scene across the recreation ground.

Any information about the damage should be given to Sgt Ali Torkington at Haverhill on (01284) 774100.

Rubbish challenge for street in recycling trial

A HAVERHILL street may be chosen to take part in a trial where residents will be given twice as many recycling bins to try to cut rubbish by half.

DEFRA and Business Resources Efficiency and Waste (BREW) have awarded the Suffolk Waste Partnership a £10,000 grant for a waste reduction scheme.

Each of the seven Suffolk districts and boroughs will select a street, including homes, businesses, and schools, and challenge the occupants to reduce their waste by half.

Cllr Roy Barker, spokesman for the Suffolk Waste Partnership, said: "Suffolk residents are currently recycling almost half of their waste, putting us among the best performers in the country.

"We now need to work towards reducing our waste to make us even better."

"The scheme will be taking shape over the next few months. Businesses and residents on the street will receive advice, be invited aboard the recycling bus and encouraged to see who can reduce their waste the most."

"This is a great opportunity for us to work together as a partnership."

He added: "We know the public are frustrated by unnecessary packaging and giving them an opportunity to think about ways to avoid waste is a great initiative."

Parents ignore parking rules

Sir, I recently saw an article about parking illegally at schools. The school I go to in Haverhill is the Place Farm Primary School. It's horrendous up there. From 3-3.30pm cars park on the pavements, on double yellow lines with no disabled badges, there is even an ambulance station opposite the school with the yellow lines painted in a box where you're not supposed to stop. But people are leaving their cars on the box while they stroll in and collect the kids. They park all near the school entrance and drive up there fast.

One day some poor kid is going to get hurt or even killed through ignorant people who think they can do what they like.

There has been a police officer up there, but no more than twice in the last year. Well of course they see his bright yellow jacket and don't come near the school entrance then. I've even spoken with the officer while I've stood there waiting with my dog and he says there are only two officers and they can't be in two places at once.

So why on earth don't they stroll up there at 3.15pm while parents are collecting their children and issue them with a parking ticket?

It's always the same old people. It's been a long ongoing issue. The school has even sent the children home with letters about it but they still continue to ignore them.

Surely something can be done about this before someone gets hurt. The ambulance can't get through if there's an emergency. I've even seen the ambulance crew come out and ask them to move the cars, but they just ignore them or they move then come back two minutes later.

Can something can be done?

Dogs must be kept on leads

Sir, In reply to Sally Bailey's letter (Dogs need to run off leads – Letters, October 15). Please be assured, my little terrier has lots of "off lead" fun in my garden – on his own and with "dog friends".

MEMORIES

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed the team from Little Chef in Haverhill. It was taken in September, 1988.

Picture: 567485.

■ THIS week's picture, taken from our archives, shows students undertaking a school project. Do you recognise anyone in the picture or know what the event was? Do you know where and when it was taken? Send your answers to: Memories, Haverhill Weekly News, 4 Queen Street, Haverhill, CB9 9EF by Tuesday morning, or email editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

But, as I was under the impression that to allow any dog to run free in a public place was against the law. I have always walked my dog on a lead, albeit an extending lead. What I was actually saying in my letter (Lead plea to dog owners – Letters, October 8), was that all dog owners should be aware of the law when they allow their dogs to run free.

In fairness, many dogs do run up to my dog with no problems. But equally, some approach him and I just know that feathers will fly if I don't pull my dog to heel. Why should I have to do that though?

People should have their dogs on leads at all times in public places – fact! Not only that, but just suppose one of these dogs running free attacked a child?

As I also said, I walk for pleasure and fitness. I don't walk my dog to feel threatened when a large dog runs up off lead and sometimes with its owner nowhere to be seen! My dog did attend classes and did really well. But, like any young male, there are times when he forgets all he learnt.

Extreme fun with half-term activity programme

A SPOOKY Hallowe'en Ball, street-style basketball and a chance to meet a real bearded dragon are just some of the activities on offer for half term at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

A children's Hallowe'en Ball will be held next Wednesday with dancing, prizes and ghoulish games for children of all ages from 5.30pm to 7pm.

During the day, children can make their own Hallowe'en fancy dress costume from old clothes and items they bring along and have their face painted.

There will also be a Hallowe'en Disco Pool Party on Friday, October 30 and a chance to make Hallowe'en decorations.

Streetball Extreme will be at the leisure centre on the same day, showcasing some of the best streetball players and freestylers in the world.

Streetball Extreme shot to fame after its smash hit TV show, Battle for Europe, which was broadcast on the Extreme Sports Channel and was one of the most successful shows in the channel's history. Youngsters aged 10 to 16 will get the chance to try street dance, streetball/basketball and cheerleading and get tips from world-class freestylers from 10am to 3pm.

The very popular Reptile House session takes place next Tuesday at 10am. Children will get the chance to have their photograph taken with real snakes, bearded dragons and spiders.

Dominic Greenwood, the centre's general manager, said: "We have a great programme for youngsters in Haverhill this half term."

"There are activities for every age group, from tots to teenagers. I am particularly excited to be welcoming Streetball Extreme, a fantastic group of talented lads who have created a highly entertaining sport which you cannot fail to want to join in."

Other activities for half term include football sessions, an active kids afternoon, a day camp for children aged 8 to 13, a multi-sports morning and a messy tots activity session.

Mamma Mia, it's all so dramatic

A CHARITY film night inspired some closet Abba fans to get out their platform shoes for a screening of the blockbuster Mamma Mia!

The Haverhill Performing Arts Festival fundraising film night took place at Haverhill Arts Centre last Friday and the town's newest supermarket, Tesco, helped cinema-goers get in the swing by donating six bottles of wine.

Claire Bowman, Tesco community champion, went along and said: "The group had worked really hard and the evening was a great success, with over 105 tickets sold. Everyone received a goody bag and free glass of Tesco wine."

Haverhill Performing Arts Festival, in partnership with Haverhill Arts Centre and with financial support in 2009 from Haverhill Town Council, Suffolk Single Gateway and West Suffolk Local Strategic Partnership, provide an annual amateur Performing Arts Festival in November at the arts centre for children and young adults up to the age of 18.

Thief targets allotments

EIGHT sheds were raided on an allotment site at Nethergate Street, Clare, between 1pm on Saturday, and 4.45pm on Sunday.

Bolt croppers and a spray gun were stolen from the allotments and a suspicious white Citroen Berlingo van was seen nearby during this time. It was driven by a white male aged in his mid to late 20s, of stocky build with short blond or brown hair.

A female was seen in the passenger side and she is described as in her early 20s, of slim build with long blonde or brown hair.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Crews tackle garage blaze

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a garage on fire.

The incident happened in Leather Lane, Haverhill, on Sunday. The fire was in a garage block and was described as well alight. This is being treated as suspicious. Two appliances from Haverhill fire station went to the scene at 5.17pm.

Well, well – health clinic just for men

A NEW drop-in style health clinic especially for men will be launched in Haverhill on Sunday.

The Wellman Clinic, formed in partnership between the Haverhill Association of Voluntary Organisations (HAVO) and the new Crown Health Centre will open at 10am on the day. The official launch will take place at 11am, and the clinic will remain open until 6pm. No appointments are necessary.

Michael Simpkin, projects coordinator for HAVO, said: "This is a service that the people of Haverhill have been asking for over the years and we are delighted that the Crown Health Centre is prepared to man this clinic and offer this vital service.

BY JO DEEKS

"This was born out of the responses we have received following the Men's MOT and Families Activity Day that HAVO held in partnership with Abbeycroft Leisure back in 2006, where many men asked for this service."

Lord Darzi – the man who first mooted the introduction of walk-in clinics, such as the Crown

Health Centre – had been invited to the launch. His will not be able to attend but has sent his best wishes for the success of the clinic.

Kate Woofe, practice nurse at the Crown Health Centre, said: "The Wellman Clinic will provide an opportunity for men to attend a GP service at the weekend or after work to receive specific healthcare at a time that is convenient."

"We aim to expand the service in the future to become a dedicated centre where men can come and discuss confidentially any problems they might have."

Board needs eyes to look out for prisoners

A PRISON monitoring group is looking for new members to keep a check on conditions for inmates.

The Independent Monitoring Board at Highpoint Prison, Stradishall, is appealing for new blood to boost its numbers. Members are appointed by the Minister of Justice and are responsible for monitoring the welfare of the 900-plus prisoners, together with the range and adequacy of resettlement programmes provided.

Members have unrestricted access to the prison at all times and are available to listen to prisoner's requests and complaints.

The board aims to continually challenge any aspect of prison life that it finds to be unsatisfactory and, if necessary, is able to take its concerns to the minister.

Anyone interested in joining the board should contact Susan Feary on (01440) 743059.

Beautiful new job: Tracey Marshall will head up the college's hair and beauty school. CP

Tracey's a cut above the rest as new head

A LECTURER has taken on the top job to head up West Suffolk College's school of hairdressing, beauty and holistic therapies.

Tracey Marshall, of Wickhambrook, has lectured at the Bury St Edmunds campus for more than 20 years and has been head of beauty therapy for seven years.

Tracey, 43, said: "I am extremely pleased and proud to be managing a school which provides an outstanding education to its students.

"The college is a fantastic place to work. Initially, I trained here as a hairdressing and beauty student and it has always been my ambition to manage the school.

"I am looking forward to continuing the high standards of teaching and learning and to expanding the school's provision.

"We will be offering diplomas in hair and beauty for 14-19-year-olds from 2010 as well as improving our relationships with and training provision for employers in local hairdressing and beauty salons."

Tracey takes over from Jenny Seisun, who retired in August 2009. Jenny had worked at the college for 25 years, and established an excellent reputation for the school.

Tracey's husband, Calvin, also works at the college, where he is the head of tutoring and learning development.

Leaders share a vision of NHS

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL residents have given "inspiring" views on healthcare as a vision for the future care of people in Suffolk is prepared.

Around 50 representatives from local community groups, councils, volunteers and business leaders were given the opportunity to speak about their views at an event hosted by NHS Suffolk.

Keynote speaker Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of NHS Suffolk, set out plans and ambitions that all the NHS organisations are seeking to deliver in the coming months.

Andrew Reed, chief executive of Ipswich Hospital and Chris Bown, chief executive of West Suffolk Hospital, set out a vision for their hospitals.

John Such, chief operating officer at Suffolk Community Healthcare, set out the work of care for people closer to home while Andrea Hill, chief executive of Suffolk County Council, added her voice to inform delegates of the challenges ahead.

A partnership approach to healthcare across the county has already seen good results, according to NHS Suffolk. This includes reduced waiting times, better access including extended GP hours, more dental surgeries, improvements in patient safety, and dignity and respect in hospitals.

Mrs Taylor-Brown said: "This is a challenge we want to tackle together, avoiding the crudeness of cuts. This means being realistic about what can be achieved - accepting that some areas of development will need to wait a little longer whilst others will continue as planned."

Dancing man in pole position

A POLE dancing group is going from strength to strength – and now men can get in on the act.

Gemma Dear, a mother of two, launched Pink Ladies Pole Fitness Club earlier this year and has been inundated by women keen to learn pole dancing to keep them fit. She even started a second class at Colchester.

Her last six-week beginners' course before Christmas starts at 7pm at the Mount Pleasant Club in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, on Thursday, November 5.

Then on Saturday, November 14, top male pole performer Adam Jay (pictured left) will be in Haverhill to perform and teach three one-hour lessons. Thee classes are for men and women.

Gemma said: "We are all very excited to have him come to Haverhill to teach us. AJ is also originally from Haverhill."

On Thursday, December 17, there will be a charity Pole Christmas Party, with money going to Children in Need, from 7pm-10.30pm. Tickets will be £10.

Stay warm with offer of insulation

A COUNCIL is offering residents the chance to stay warm and save on fuel bills this winter.

Thousands of households in St Edmundsbury could benefit from an Eastern Carbon Reduction Initiative programme offering financial help to make sure homes are properly insulated.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council has been chosen to launch a regional scheme offering fixed-cost insulation, which coincides with Energy Saving Week.

Loft insulation costs £149, which in an un-insulated loft could be saved in energy bills within a year. Upgrading from a four-inch layer to a full 12 inches could save £75 a year. The fixed cost of cavity wall insulation is also £149, which could save around £115 a year on fuel costs.

Cllr Peter Stevens, council cabinet member for environment, said: "With fuel bills predicted to rise sharply in the future, there are still households paying more than they need to for energy wasted through poor insulation, and I strongly recommend this scheme to them."

"Although there are many schemes to help with insulating homes, we estimate that we still have thousands of properties that need to be brought up to standard."

"There are all kinds of reasons for this. It may be that a young family is renovating a property or that established homeowners haven't been up in the loft for years and just don't know."

"There are even roof spaces that have no loft access. This programme will underpin all the other schemes available, as a 'catch-all' so that no-one who needs help falls through the net."

The programme is being run through a region wide consortium of councils and contractors and is funded through a Government initiative.

Hard at work: Synergy students paint the fence at Wedgewood House at West Suffolk Hospital.

Students brush up on art skills

TEENAGERS from Haverhill have helped to brighten up a garden for Alzheimer's and dementia patients.

Bruno Delima, 18, Lloyd Coxall, 16, and Ben Shea, 17, all from Haverhill, were among a group of teenagers on a college course who stepped in to help brighten up the garden area at West Suffolk Hospital.

Eight students in the Synergy group at West Suffolk College volunteered to decorate a fence in the recreation area at Eastgate Ward, part of Wedgewood House, a residential home for people with Alzheimer's and dementia.

Two of the people involved in the project have relatives who suffer from Alzheimer's.

Because of the vulnerability of patients at Wedgewood House, staff are very careful about who is allowed into the facility. But they were so impressed with the young volunteers they have asked for them to come back and complete the final stage of the work.

Robert Calton, a former student on the programme, created the design for the countryside scene, which has been painted on the fence to make the outdoor courtyard area look more like a garden.

Lecturer Anne Hateley said: "The students were assisted by staff and residents at Wedgewood House. They have done a brilliant job."

Synergy is the new name for a course at West Suffolk College which helps young people prepare for the world from work or further training.

Arsonist sets rubbish alight

FIREFIGHTERS were called to rubbish on fire near a sports centre. The incident happened behind the sports centre in Ehringshausen Way, Haverhill, on Saturday. One crew from Haverhill attended the scene after they were called at 7.56pm.

A fire service spokesman said there was "a small amount of rubbish on fire". It was extinguished by 8.12pm.

University success

FORMER Haverhill schoolboy Aaron Fowler has graduated from Lincoln University with a 2.1 degree in psychology and criminology.

Aaron, 21, of Downs Place, Haverhill, went to the Cangle, Parkway and Castle Manor Schools in Haverhill.

He is now continuing to study for a masters degree in criminology at Lincoln.

New home bid goes back in

Medics launch bid of more volunteers

VOLUNTEERS are needed to boost numbers at Haverhill's St John Ambulance group.

Anyone who lives in the Haverhill area and would like to "learn new skills, help their local community, have fun and make new friends" is asked to consider joining the group.

St John Ambulance provides first aid care and support across Suffolk and Haverhill. Volunteers are regularly involved in supporting regional high profile events such as Newmarket Races, stock car races at Foxhall and football at Ipswich, as well as providing first aid cover at local events including the Thurlow Steam Rally and Christmas late night shopping in Haverhill's town centre.

Tony Farrant, Haverhill's divisional superintendent, said: "We have a fantastic team at Haverhill, but it would great to welcome new adult volunteers."

"We'd like to hear from anyone interested in finding out more about life as a volunteer with St John Ambulance.

"All training and uniform is provided by the organisation and you can do as many or as few duties as you wish."

He said volunteering was a great way for people to expand their horizons, add to their CV and generally improve their own, and potentially someone else's lives.

To find out more about the opportunities within St John Ambulance Haverhill, call Mr Farrant on (01440) 710194 or email Deborah Parr, divisional secretary on debz\_58\_2000@yahoo.co.uk.

Patients class NHS service as 'good'

PATIENTS in Suffolk have received a "good" service from their local NHS during the past year, according to a national report published by the Care Quality Commission.

Suffolk was rated as "good" for the two categories – quality of the services provided and for financial management.

The report is the most comprehensive assessment of the NHS undertaken.

These annual NHS performance ratings give a detailed picture of how the NHS is making progress on issues such as infection control, waiting times and access to services.

Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of NHS Suffolk, said: "This report reflects our commitment to do the very best for Suffolk people."

"In the past year we have completely turned around our financial position, we have taken steps to improve patient safety and we continue to improve the overall standard of primary care services for people across the county.

"Patients in Suffolk can be assured we are committed to continue this work into the future."

Help is at hand to give sound advice

A PARTNERSHIP of organisations including councils, emergency services, businesses and voluntary groups has created a useful website to help residents ride out the economic downturn.

Cambridgeshire Together has set up the special site at www.weatherthestorm.org.uk giving advice on subjects such as employment, housing and general money worries. There are tips for householders too.

Information is also on hand about what support is available to businesses struggling to balance the books.

Councillor Jill Tuck, chairman of Cambridgeshire Together and leader of Cambridgeshire County Council, said: "www.weatherthestorm.org.uk has helped publicise the support available to local businesses, ranging from how to set up a fuel club, to how rural pubs can access funding.

"The website received more than 3,000 hits in its first week and 50 voluntary and community sector organisations have requested financial support through the site."

Another good place to seek help is Cambridge Citizens' Advice Bureau (CAB).

The Newmarket Road branch has about 150 employees and volunteers to offer guidance on a range of financial issues.

These include advice on how to manage debt, as well as specialist information on what benefits customers are entitled to claim.

As reported recently, the four CAB branches in the county have joined forces to create Advice Hub to support smaller communities in Cambridgeshire.

Specialist case workers can offer more detailed suggestions for customers concerned about matters such as bankruptcy, mortgage and rent arrears, and how to deal with bailiffs.

To find out more, call Cambridge CAB on 0844 8487979 or visit www.cambridgecab.org.uk

Charity run: competitors in the Run 10k event on Sunday.

Picture: Richard Patterson 603418

First race proves a big draw

HUNDREDS of fundraisers pounded the streets of Cambridge at Cancer Research UK's first Run 10k event in the city.

The run, which took place on Sunday, is one of a series of 41 Run 10k events taking place throughout the UK this autumn.

More than 1,600 people took part and it is hoped more than £70,000 has been raised for the charity whose groundbreaking work into the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of cancer has helped save millions of lives.

Lucy Hynes, Cancer Research UK's event manager for East Anglia, said: "It has gone brilliantly. Overall participants have really, really loved it. People said the course was lovely."

"We had over 65 marshals on the course. They were volunteers and really helped make it a success."

Mrs Hynes added: "Every penny goes to scientists and researchers working to beat cancer."

She said the response received from people in Cambridge was "phenomenal", adding: "It is the first time we've done a Run 10k event in Cambridge and I think it's been very well received."

David Tumbarello, 31, who works for the Cambridge Research Institute, came in first place with a time of 33 minutes and 50 seconds.

He said he and two other colleagues had raised £350 between them, adding: "It was good fun."

The fastest woman was Sarah Juggins, 41, from Cambridge, who ran the race in 36 minutes.

Nicola 'my ray of sunshine' died of a heart attack at 20

REACHING out to hold her daughter's hand, Julie Emmerson sat silently at her bedside.

Lying there, her blonde hair spread out on the pillow, Nicola looked for all the world as if she was asleep. But, aged just 20, her heart had suddenly – and inexplicably – stopped beating: Nicola was dead.

"She was so still, but still so warm," remembers Julie, tears welling in her eyes. "I knew what had happened, but I didn't want it to be the truth... And I knew I had to leave her but I didn't want to. I just wanted to pick her up and take her home."

"My son was saying 'Wake up, Nicola. Come on, wake up' it was heart-rending. She was a real ray of sunshine: when she died, our whole world clouded over – even now, those clouds are still there." Looking round the sitting room of her Royston home, Julie points out a whole gallery of family photos. Many of them contain Nicola's smiling face.

"She'll always be with us," adds Julie. "I hate it when people say 'It's time to move on'. As far as I'm concerned, to move on you have to leave something behind – and I'd never leave her behind, never."

Nicola died in January 2007. Out clubbing with her girlfriends, to celebrate her 20th birthday, she suddenly collapsed.

Tests later showed Nicola had died instantly, and was dead before she hit the dance floor. A post-mortem found Nicola had suffered a sudden cardiac death. Shockingly, 12 young people in the UK are lost to sudden cardiac death each and every week. And, at the moment, doctors don't know why.

"We've still got questions that need answering," admits Julie. "It's horrible not having a reason..."

Describing her eldest daughter as "very lively, always the centre of attention", Julie says Nicola had, ironically, suffered heart problems as a tiny baby. "She was a healthy 8lb 1oz and she wasn't sickly," remembers Julie, who also has two other children, Daniel, 23, and Charlotte, 14. "But my mother's instinct told me something wasn't right. It turned out she had a very, very fast and irregular heartbeat."

Rushed into hospital, doctors said baby Nicola was in a critical condition. "They said we had to be prepared, they wanted to give her the last rites," remembers Julie, with a shudder. But, with the aid of a defibrillator, the medics managed to restore a normal heartbeat.

They diagnosed Nicola with Wolff-Parkinson-White, a rare heart syndrome. After taking medication for two years, she recovered – and went on to live a full and healthy life.

"Ironically, after she died, they tested her heart and found out she'd never had the syndrome at all," adds Julie. "So that had nothing to do with her death."

A former pupil at both Meridian and Greneway schools in Royston, Nicola went on to work for the town's famous chocolate company, Hotel Chocolat, for five years, up until her death.

"She loved a party and was always socialising," adds Julie. "On the night she died she'd booked a minibus to take her and her friends to a club in Watford. She'd even chosen the music they were going to listen to on the way. All the girls came here to get ready. I can still remember her walking in here, all dressed up. When she turned round she'd got her dress tucked into her knickers! We were all joking with her about that. "When she left Nicola was on a real high. I said 'Have a great time. Love you' and she said 'Love you, Mum'. That was the last thing she ever said to me."

Julie's husband, Steve, a driver for Sainsbury's, then left to start a night shift.

A funeral director, Julie herself was on call: during the evening, she was called out to two deaths. "I can remember coming in and saying to Charlotte, Daniel and his girlfriend 'That's it, I don't want to have to go out again tonight' – next thing there were two policemen at the door, telling me Nicola had collapsed," she recounts.

"At that stage I didn't realise the urgency... Nicola's boyfriend had given her a teddy bear for Christmas and I remember grabbing that, thinking that she'd want something to cuddle in hospital."

Daniel went with his mum to Watford and Steve went straight to the hospital from work. "We got there and they asked us into a little room," continues Julie, closing her eyes. "I knew then... Nicola's mates said they knew she had gone because they could hear me screaming – and they were standing outside the hospital."

The accident and emergency team had spent an hour trying to resuscitate Nicola, to no avail. Taken to see her body, Julie says she spent more than two hours at her bedside, unable to tear herself away.

"We've since been told she was dead before she even hit the floor," says Julie. "Later on I'm sure we'll take comfort from that. Nicola wasn't even aware: as far as she was concerned, she was out with her friends and having an absolute ball."

Forced to say goodbye, Julie, Steve and Daniel returned home – to break the news to Charlotte. "She was only 11," Julie explains, tearful at the memory.

"She said 'How's Nicola?' and I had to say 'She's not coming home. She died'... Her little face..." Because Julie was a funeral director at the time, she immediately started planning "the send-off Nicola deserved".

"Because of my job, it was something we'd talked about," she adds. "Nicola said she wanted a white coffin with silver swirls and horses. She even told me the music she wanted played – including Aerosmith's I Don't Wanna Miss A Thing. She wasn't here long enough to have the wedding of her dreams, so I wanted her to have the best send-off possible."

But the funeral plans had to be put on hold for a month: following a post-mortem, Nicola's heart was removed for further tests.

"It was dreadful," continues Julie. "We were asked to go back down to the mortuary to visit her before they took her to another hospital."

"They put her in a deep freeze and took her heart away. And then we just had to wait for the phone call, saying her heart was back with her and she was coming home."

The tests revealed sudden cardiac death, the cause of which is unknown. There were no drugs in Nicola's system and only a small amount of alcohol – she was below the drink-drive limit.

To this day, Julie says there is no explanation. When the time came, Julie chose to lay out Nicola's body herself.

"I wanted to do it," she says. "I dressed her in the dress she'd bought for New Year's Eve. It was strapless and she loved it. Organising the funeral was the last thing I could do for her, and I wanted it to be perfect."

The funeral took place on February 12 and Julie says the church was packed. Everyone was asked to wear something pink, even the men, because it was Nicola's favourite colour, and her body was driven to the church in a glass carriage, drawn by a team of horses.

In line with her wishes, Nicola's coffin was white with silver swirls instead of flowers. Julie topped the coffin with the pink, glittery Stetson Nicola wore clubbing on the night she died.

"It was a strange feeling," admits Julie. "You're there, but you're not there, if you know what I mean? It's like watching a movie, a very sad movie at that."

Julie admits it was months before she stopped expecting Nicola to just walk in the door one night, with "a smile or a sarky comment".

"But that was it," she says. "We had this new life and we had to try to live it. "Even now, some days are very hard. There have been times when I don't even want to get out of bed. But then you think of Nicola and you bounce back: if you were miserable or had the hump, she always had a way of getting you out of it – by saying or doing something to make you laugh."

Julie says the whole family was left devastated by Nicola's death. Eventually leaving her job as a funeral director, because she found it too painful, Julie had 18 months of counselling and admits reaching "a very dark place".

"I went through a horrible stage where I wanted to go and find her – and I knew the only way I could be with her was to take my own life," she explains. "I wanted to be with her, but I knew I needed to be here, that everyone here needed me."

Julie says throwing herself into fundraising gave her both a focus and a sense of hope. She discovered that a team of doctors, based at Papworth Hospital, were researching sudden cardiac death and trying to identify young people who might be at risk.

"They think it's something to do with the electrics in the heart, like it having a short circuit," explains Julie. "We want to help them find some answers – and stop other families going through what we've been through."

The Emmerson family have set up a charitable trust in Nicola's name: by holding a whole series of fundraisers, from golf days and auctions to sponsored challenges (Julie has just done the Great North Run), they are aiming to raise £25,000 for Papworth.

The trust has already raised £7,000 and Julie says she has been both touched and overwhelmed by people's generosity. "We're doing this in memory of Nicola: she's at the heart of things, which is where she always wanted to be – in the limelight," adds Julie, with a smile.

"It's also a focus for us, and it's for a very important cause. By telling this story, we want to make people aware of sudden cardiac death, it's a silent killer."

"Losing a child changes your life: life can never be the same again. All you can do is try to make the best of the life you have left – and that's what we're doing."

Service team makes grade

AN EDUCATION recruitment service based in Haverhill has received a top industry accreditation.

Key Education Services, based at Anne of Cleves House in Haverhill, covers schools throughout East Anglia and Essex, and has been accredited with the Department for Children, Schools and Families' Quality Mark.

This accolade demonstrates the service has achieved the highest possible standard of recruitment selection and vetting of teachers.

Debby Dyson, director, said: "I am extremely proud and delighted that we have achieved this quality mark."

"It is recognition of Key Education's high standards of recruitment and vetting and gives increased confidence to our schools that our standards are of the highest in the industry."

"Supply teachers make an increasingly important contribution to the smooth running of schools."

"We want to build on our success now in providing the best quality recruitment service. To that end we want to extend our sincere thanks to all the schools and teachers who have supported us along the way."

Kevin Green, chief executive of the Recruitment and Employment Confederation, which manages the Quality Mark scheme, said: "Key Education Services are to be praised for continuing to excel themselves in reaching the optimum standard for recruiting supply teachers."

"The Quality Mark is becoming increasingly recognised within the industry, as guaranteeing effective and ethical provision of supply teachers who are so crucial to the lifeblood of schools."

Friendly tips on sight care

A TALL, friendly character has been seen in Haverhill, spreading the message about looking after your eyesight and getting tested regularly.

Since World Sight Day on October 8, Jolly Giraffe has been seen in local opticians' windows, showing people how equal access to eye care around the world could substantially reduce blindness in poor countries.

Fortunately for people living in Suffolk, it is a different story – any person under the age of 18 or over the age of 65 is entitled to a free eye test.

Chris Wilbraham, an optician who runs two practices in Suffolk and is chairman of the local optometry committee, has worked with colleagues in NHS Suffolk's primary care team to come up with the cheery character for the campaign, aimed at children.

Mr Wilbraham said: "It's really important that children get their eyes tested regularly because an early diagnosis – of a squint or certain types of long sight or astigmatism – can lead to better vision in both eyes in years to come."

"We hope that Jolly Giraffe and his friends will encourage children to come in and get a test – and if they do can receive a booklet and stickers too."

To find your nearest optician, visit the NHS Suffolk service locator at www.suffolk.nhs.uk/service/locator or call PALS on 0800 389 6819.

'Incredible production': above, Catherine McCormack on stage in Six Characters in Search of An Author. Right, her fellow cast members.

Braveheart's beauty is back in Character

Catherine McCormack shot to fame as Murron MacClannough in the 1995 blockbuster Braveheart.

"It was a very exciting time for me," says Catherine. "I was only 23 at the time, so it was quite nerve-wracking. I only had a small part but I worked on the production for six months and was back and forward shooting for that time, so I learned a lot about film-making."

Her performance in Braveheart paved the way for her roles in Spy Game and Dangerous Beauty, but despite her film success she remains loyal to her love of the theatre and it was her West End debut as the lead in Anna Weiss; All My Sons, alongside Julie Walters, which won her a 2001 Laurence Olivier Theatre Award nomination for Best Supporting Actress.

She says: "If I had to choose between film and theatre, I think it would have to be theatre. But I guess if I was only doing theatre I'd say film or TV. So, actually, I think a mixture of all of them is best."

Six Characters in Search of an Author is her latest stage production. Written by Luigi Pirandello and first performed in 1921, the celebrated satire has been brought to life in Headlong Theatre's radical interpretation under director Rupert Goold, with a talented cast which also includes Wycliffe star Jack Shepherd.

Six strangers appear unannounced during the editing of a docu-drama declaring themselves fictional characters in search of an author. As the compelling narrative unfolds, their story is filmed and reality and fiction become increasingly blurred.

Stage and screen star Catherine McCormack tells LOUISE MARTIN why she's swapping the company of Mel Gibson, Meryl Streep, Brad Pitt and Michael Caine for the boards of the Cambridge Arts Theatre.

"It's a very strong play," says Catherine. "I'd seen it the year before in the West End and I loved it. I thought it was an incredible production, very original and innovative."

"I play the producer, and instantly loved the character. It's sort of about a woman who's avoided living her own life and in many ways telling everybody else's story, being a documentary film maker, while avoiding dealing with the death of her sister."

As well as Shepherd, who Catherine describes as "a talented, charming man", she appears alongside local actors Laurence Carolan and Josh Isbitsky on alternate performances.

Six Characters in Search of an Author comes to Cambridge following the opening run at Bristol's Old Vic, where following four weeks of rehearsals in London, the cast got to grips with the staging. "Technically there's a lot going on around you on stage," explains Catherine. "It was good to have the usual four weeks of rehearsals without all of the technical wizardry going on so we could follow the journey and understand all of the characters and places in the play, but then we had to start to work around that."

Described as "one of the most exciting directors of his generation" (Daily Telegraph) Goold is generally considered to have the Midas touch when it comes to plays and opera.

"This is the first time I've met Rupert Goold and he's great," admits Catherine. "He's a very busy man and was directing an opera at the same time as Six Characters; he's quite a brilliant man."

Catherine is unsure whether more theatre or perhaps another film will come next.

"I've never been one of those actors that know in advance that something's coming up," she says. "So I'll be footloose and fancy-free for a while again!"

■ Six Characters in Search of an Author will be at the Cambridge Arts Theatre until Saturday at 7.45pm, with a matinee on Saturday at 2.30pm. Tickets £10-27. Contact (01223) 503333 or book online at www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Catch a film

THE world's first major feature documentary about the impact over fishing is having on our oceans is coming to Cambridge. The End of the Line is based on the book by former Telegraph journalist Charles Clover and filmed over two years. It "provides a dramatic expose of those in power who take advantage of the seas with catastrophic consequences on the world's fish supplies".

The film, narrated by Ted Danson, examines the imminent extinction of blue fin tuna, the impact on marine life resulting in huge overpopulation of jellyfish and the implications of a future world with no fish. Clover also confronts politicians and celebrity restaurateurs.

Directed by Rupert Murray, the film was officially selected for the 2009 Sundance Film Festival. It will be screen at Birdlife International's headquarters in Giron Road, Cambridge. Tickets are ?? To book, go to www.endoftheline.com

Mad George

CAMBRIDGE University Players and Tongue-in-Chic Theatre will present Alan Bennett's The Madness of George III at the ADC this week.

George is King of England. George is sovereign of the world's greatest commonwealth. George is also going mad. So when the King's illness takes hold, the impatient Prince of Wales begins to scheme for sovereignty. A greasy tangle of ignorant doctors, corrupt politicians, and self-seeking royalty all vie for power...

Witty, poignant, and terrifying by turns, this is one of Alan Bennett's greatest plays, later an Oscar-winning film.

The production runs until Saturday at 7.45pm (plus Sat mat 2.30pm). Tickets are £6-9. Contact (01223) 359547 or go to www.adctheatre.com

Punk legends stop off on tour

TOP Punk band Sham 69 will be headlining a one-off gig in Newmarket. The band, which starred at August's Fordham Festival, is being brought to the town by two of the festival organisers, Mark Autey and Angie Lee.

They have teamed up with sound system specialists System 54 PA to present the show in the town's Memorial Hall in the High Street on Tuesday, November 3.

The band, which retains just one original member – guitarist Dave Parsons, will be supported by Savage Circle (formerly Foxys Ruts), Raized and Freedom Fraction.

Tickets for the show are £12 and are available by calling (01638) 721438 or 07968 586418.

Rockin' with music from King Presley

BASED on the music of Elvis Presley, Centre Stage Company's young thespians continue their performances of All Shook Up at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

With a cast made up of 40 youngsters aged between 12 and 18 you can be sure it will be a high energy show.

It is set in 1950s mid west America in a dreary town where having fun and playing music has been banned by the town mayor. But that all changes when a roving roustabout arrives on his motorbike and wows all the ladies, fixes the jukebox and gets the town, singing, dancing and loving again.

The story has lots of twists and turns as the people of the town start falling in love but not necessarily with the right partners. The whole plot is held together with the music of Elvis Presley to make a lively and funny musical. So go along, enjoy the music of the King himself.

All Shook Up runs until Saturday at 7.30pm with a Saturday matinee. Prices range from £8 (£5 student price).

David Ingle will be the guest of the Haverhill Keyboard Club next Tuesday at 7.30pm at the arts centre. David's music and performances include all styles and draws on his extensive experience of dance favourites.

The Crow Show present Gingerbread, a puppet show suitable for those aged 4 and up, next Wednesday at 11am. Mrs Magg is a very good cook and she enchants her young audience with her stories as she bakes a gingerbread man. Ingredients include one actress, three old stories told in a new way, a song or two, shadow puppets, music and a

THEGUIDE GARDENING

Prepare your garden for 'firework display'

Autumn splendour is always the grand finale of the growing season, as leaves turn vibrant shades of yellow, orange and deep red, while berries provide further interest – and not just for the birds.

So, if you are now looking out on a bare garden with little colour, think about the ornamentals you could plant to add some pizzazz to the scene and contrast well with each other.

Autumn colour shows up best with a solid, dark background such as conifers and evergreen shrubs, so bear this in mind when planning.

Trees should be used carefully so that their effect is a highlight rather than just a small part of a busy planting scheme. Green is still the most important colour in the garden and should therefore be the most prevalent, so don't overdo it with bright-leaved plants or the effect will not be restful.

The ornamental cherry (Prunus sargentii) is a wonderful specimen whose young leaves are red, turning to dark green. In early autumn they become brilliant orange-red and finally a deep red. The leaves don't drop at the first hint of frost, but last longer on the tree.

A smaller tree is the Persian ironwood (Parrotia persica), which grows to eight metres and whose leaves turn to a patchwork of orange, bright red

by Hannah Stephenson

and purple-red in autumn, although it needs acid soil for good leaf colour.

Combine trees and shrubs of different hues.

The rich, deep reds and burgundies of Japanese maples such as Acer palmatum 'Bloodgood' contrast beautifully with the yellowing leaves of silver birch, while Chinese lanterns (Physalis alkekengi) provide additional warmth with their bright orange, lantern-shaped fruits, ideally in a large shrub border in a woodland setting.

Plant perennials such as bearded irises at the front of the display for structural foliage from spring to autumn, and for flower colour earlier in the year.

If you don't have room to add more plants to your borders, select a Japanese maple in a pot for warm autumn colour. Choose a container at least 30cm in diameter and a compost comprising equal parts John Innes No 2 potting compost and a soil-less multipurpose compost. Add lots of drainage material in the base of the pot and top-dress the compost with gravel.

Ideal specimens for a pot include A palmatum dissectum 'Garnet', whose leaves open bright red and then deepen to a rich garnet colour. This deciduous acer is very slow growing – up to 1.8m in 10 years – and looks great alongside a pond or in an ornamental planter.

Acers should be grown in moist but well-drained soil. The foliage colour is best in dappled shade, although full sun can be tolerated.

Shrubs can also provide dazzling foliage tints and flowers. Look out for Euonymus alatus, the spindle bush, which is a world away from the compact, variegated evergreen forms we use for shady gardens and winter hanging baskets.

This one is deciduous, but produces spectacular autumn colour, producing a molten crimson display. It is medium-sized, fitting into most gardens.

Other good choices for autumn colour include Hebe 'Autumn Glory', which produces purple bottle-brush flowers which can last until Christmas, and the oak-leaved hydrangea (Hydrangea quercifolia), whose leaves turn purple in autumn and hang on to the plant for ages.

If you have a wall which looks bare in the cooler months, train a colourful pyracantha along it, such as P 'Orange Glow', which produces clusters of sizzling orange autumn berries and white spring flowers. This evergreen shrub has a vigorous, dense and spiny habit and can also be planted as a barrier hedge. Train it like a cordon, and in years to come it will reward you (and the birds) with masses of colourful berries.

Other shrubs with colourful autumn fruits include Berberis x carminea 'Pirate King', Callicarpa bodinieri var gairdii 'Profusion' and Cotoneaster salicifolius 'Rothschildianus'.

Autumn in the garden can truly be the firework display before the more muted tones of winter set in.

BEST OF THE BUNCH

Cotinus

Commonly known as the smoke bush because of its fluffy plumes of pale pink flowers which appear above the foliage in summer, producing a smoke-like haze, this deciduous shrub is a must for the autumn garden.

You need a fair amount of space as it can become the size of a small tree, so grow it as a stand-alone specimen or in a large shrub border in sun or light shade, in moist but well-drained, moderately fertile soil.

Good choices include C 'Flame', whose oval, light green leaves turn brilliant orange-red in autumn, and C coggygia 'Royal Purple', grown for its purple foliage, whose leaves turn orange and red in autumn before falling.

Hybrids come of age

HYBRID-engined vehicles may only be a stop-gap solution in the search for totally eco-friendly transport, but more and more car makers are building at least one such drivetrain into their future model ranges.

Toyota and Honda's early successes with half-electric, half-petrol powerplants have shown that they make a lot of sense for the immediate future, as research on viable long-distance, all-electric and fuel-cell vehicles continues.

Next up with a hybrid motor is Subaru, with the Japanese

The Suzuki Swift Plug-In Hybrid concept: Easy to recharge.

Ever more car makers commit to eco-friendly drivetrains – Subaru (above) and Suzuki being the latest to join the fray

The concept adopts a distinct luxury tone, and the hybrid powerplant comes with all-wheel drive.

It's a real eye-catcher, too – the Subaru's premium-specification cabin is accessed through gullwing doors, and a greater sense of space is achieved by removing the B-pillars, which enhances the view for all occupants.

The concept's 2.0-litre petrol engine is allied to two electric motors, powered by lithium-ion batteries sited at both the front and rear.

In normal driving conditions the direct-injection petrol unit supplies the power, but at lower speeds and start-up, the rear electric motor drives the car.

The forward electric unit, mainly used as a power generator, kicks in to assist performance and efficiency when tackling hills.

"The Hybrid Tourer Concept is both technically advanced and stylistically enthralling – and it hints at future design direction," enthuses Subaru UK's managing director Paul Tunncliffe.

Subaru will also be showing other concepts at the Tokyo event, which runs from October 21-November 8, including an Impreza WRX with a distinctive carbon-fibre roof.

Suzuki is also getting in on the hybrid act at Tokyo, exhibiting a Swift plug-in dual-power supermini, plus an SX4 fuel-cell vehicle.

The Swift is aimed at drivers who do around 12-15 miles daily, and is driven primarily on electric power. Its compact 660cc engine charges the lithium-ion battery if capacity drops, and it can also be recharged when parked, via a domestic plug socket.

Suzuki's SX4 FCV fuel-cell vehicle, which needs a high-pressure hydrogen tank, is being tested on public roads in Japan.

Meanwhile Infiniti, the luxury car division of Nissan, will start selling its first production hybrid in spring 2011 as part of its new M range of performance saloons.

Titled the M35 Hybrid, the rear-drive, V6-engined car will cut fuel consumption and CO2 emissions without, says Infiniti, taking anything away from the driving experience.

The firm's hybrid system uses just the one electric motor to aid the 3.5-litre petrol unit.

Pug lines up 5008

PEUGEOT's new 5008 compact people carrier, a full seven-seater, goes on sale in the UK next January and will be priced from £16,895-£23,695.

The 5008 will come in three trim levels: Active, Sport and Exclusive. All have the firm's Multiflex interior and seven seats – the second row can fold flat, and the third row can be hidden below the floor. This system allows for a basic 823-litre load capacity, which extends to 2,506 litres with all rearward seats folded down. Details from Marshall Peugeot on (01223) 377000.

Latest Golf Estate is perfect for the business user

THE new Golf range has been extended with the latest and most practical model: the new Golf Estate

The car is available to order now ahead of the first models arriving in showrooms on November 6. The car itself is more comfortable than ever, with a sharper, sportier look and high levels of standard equipment. Prices start at £16 380 for the entry-level

S 1.2-litre TSI with 102bhp and rise to £22,580 for the range-topping Sportline
2.0-litre TDI 137bhp with DSG gearbox

Taking its styling cues from the Mk VI Golf hatch, the Estate has a new front bumper and body coloured rear bumper, new wheel designs, modified tail lights and, inside, a new dash and revised upholstery.

The basic range remains as before with S, SE and Sportline trim levels. However, in a break from this and starting a new trend in Volkswagen's line-ups, an economical and low-CO2 emitting variant is available in all three trim levels designated BlueMotion

Technology. From now on, only the very lowest emitting and most economical cars in a range (for example, the Golf hatch at 99g/km) will be known as simply "BlueMotion"

That said, the new Golf Estate BlueMotion Technology models – with a 102bhp 1.6-litre TDI common-rail engine and available in S, SE and Sportline trims – return 67.3mpg on the combined cycle and emit a class-leading 109g/km of CO<sub>2</sub>

This not only puts them in VED Band B, but means they fall below the 121g/km company car tax threshold leading to potential savings for company car drivers of more than £1,000 over three years

Across the range, a total of five engines will be offered: two petrol and three diesel. The entry-level petrol, which will go on sale in spring next year, will be a new 1.2-litre TSI 102bhp. It is accompanied by the existing 1.4-litre TSI 119bhp available now. Diesel engines consist of two 1.6-litre TDI units producing 90 (available spring) or 102bhp (available now), and a 2.0-litre TDI 137bhp (also available now). Available gearboxes include the seven-speed DSG automatic.

HIGHWAYS
AGENCYHIGHWAYS AGENCY
ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(a)
THE A11 TRUNK ROAD (WATERHALL INTERCHANGE, JUNCTION 38 TO NORTH OF B1085 DANE HILL ROAD, SUFFOLK (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2009

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport has made an Order on the A11 Trunk Road in Suffolk to enable installation of variable message signs, foundations and associated ducts, cabling and control cabinets works to be carried out in safety.

The works are expected to take place over 12 weeks starting on or after Sunday 1 November 2009 between the hours of (8pm - 6am). The Order will come into force on 26 October 2009 and have a maximum duration of eighteen months.

During the works traffic management will be restricted to a maximum length of 4 kilometres at any one time on both the northbound and southbound carriageways of the A11 from a point 50 metres south of the centre line of its junction with the entrance to Newmarket RDC Waterworks, near Waterhall Interchange Junction 38, to a point 500 metres north of the centre point of the B1085 Dane Hill Road overbridge.

The effect of the Order will be to -

- impose a 50 miles per hour speed limit, in conjunction with lane closures,
- prohibit any vehicle with an overall width exceeding 4.1 metres,
- close all lay-bys adjacent to either carriageway, and
- close all gaps within the central reservation.

Access to properties fronting the trunk road will be maintained at all times.

The temporary mandatory speed limit (which will not apply to emergency service vehicles) lane, lay-by, and gap closures (which will not apply to emergency service, traffic officer, works vehicles or winter service maintenance vehicles) will be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works period.

Essex County Council

(Bull Lane, Langley) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2009

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close that length of Bull Lane, in the Parish of Langley in the District of Uttlesford from its junction with Park Lane proceeding north-east to an approximate distance of 920 metres to its junction with The Causeway.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 26 October 2009 for 5 days or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting.

The closure is required for the safety of the public and workforce whilst the construction of 3 passing places is undertaken by Essex County Council.

The alternative route will be via Park Lane - Langley Road - Valance Road, Clavering - Upper Green Road and vice versa.

Access for emergency service vehicles and pedestrians will be maintained at all times during the closure.

&gt;&gt;YOUTH RUGBY

Aiden's four-try haul isn't Petty

Under-12
WITH five players missing for the trip to Stowmarket, Haverhill must have been slightly wary. But when fly-half Aiden Petty caught the kick off and scorched through to score, their fears evaporated. With a strong pack providing a good platform for the backs, Haverhill took charge. After a 15m rolling maul, captain and hooker Harry Collins crashed over from five metres and although Stowmarket reorganised, Petty ran in three more tries to seal a 25-10 victory.

Under-10
HAVERHILL'S depleted side suffered at Stowmarket, losing 30-15 and 40-5. Despite having to borrow some players, they made a bright start to the opening game and good work in the maul from Josh Pask and Ewan Belenger allowed loan players to score a try each. However, Stowmarket exploited gaps in the Haverhill line to take charge, the visitors responding with Max Walker's try in the corner.

The home side seemed to score tries almost at will in the second match before Charlie Brown, Matthew Pask and Steven Adams pulled the scrum together. Jack Sizer's unwavering work-rate helped Haverhill match Stowmarket and they were rewarded when Oliver Cooper powered through the home defence to ground the ball with an outstretched arm.

Under-seven/eights
HAVERHILL started well in their opening game against Stowmarket, taking a 4-2 lead into half time before edging a closely-contested second half to secure a 7-5 win. John Adams led the way with three tries, followed by Chelsea Pordage and Hayden Rhys with two apiece. However, a strong team from Felixstowe had the edge against Haverhill and, despite good defensive work from Oliver Loveridge, Luke Wheeler and Aidan Denty, they lost 4-3. Hayden Rhys (2) and Charlie Harvey scored the tries.

Gritty winner

RUSSELL Gritty was victorious in the Rayner Cup at Haverhill. He scored gross 83, nett 66, to claim the competition on countback from Colin Rudge, who fired gross 84. Derek Olive was third with gross 94, nett 67. The lowest gross score was 74, shot by both Lee Chandler and Gerry Scott. Jackie Condon was first in the October Medal with nett 68, three ahead of Marion Mercer. Geraldine Wheatley was third on 73. Haverhill's ladies' team beat Lords C&C 4-1, and the seniors' side triumphed 4½-3½ against Diss.

&gt;&gt;YOUTH RUGBY

Duo battle to win

EVEN though they only took two players to their game at Impington, Haverhill still managed a 5-5 draw in their Cambridge and District Table Tennis League, Division One clash.

Rob Cushen and Maria Boulton dug deep to secure the draw.

Haverhill II condemned Sawston, in only their second match, to a 6-4 defeat in Division Three.

&gt;&gt;FOOTBALL: MINI, COLTS AND SUNDAY LEAGUE

Cambridge Diamonds 1 Withersfield 11
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12
WITHERSFIELD went on the rampage as Cambridge Diamonds wilted under pressure.

Skipper Jason Moore broke the deadlock and when Cameron Kidd netted after a period of pressure from the home side, there was no looking back. Further first-half goals came from Mitchell Forshaw, Bailey Cassidy, and Josh Matthewson. Forshaw converted a well-worked opening to start off the second-half scoring and Matthewson, Bailey - who went on to score four - and Forshaw again completed the rout.

Shelford 4 Thurlow 3
Cambs Mini League, under-9A
THURLOW ran out of time in their attempt to get the equaliser. They had been overwhelmed by Shelford & Stapleford Strikers' ferocious start which earned them a 3-1 lead, Finley Dray scoring the visitors' goal. Cameron Craig flicked the ball in to ignite Thurlow's comeback and although the home side broke away to score a fourth, Dray's second goal guaranteed a tense finish.

St Ives Rangers A 0 West Wrattling 1
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12D
A CONFIDENT West Wrattling ended St Ives' unbeaten run. They were under the cosh for the opening spell, with keeper James Cutting in good form and the defence and midfield battling to keep their side in it. However, they weathered the storm and Jesse Luff scored the decisive goal after robbing the Saints' full-back. Although Mo Horsley hit the post in the second half, Saints almost forced an equaliser in the dying seconds, but Dom FERIA headed off the line in a goalmouth scramble.

Hundon Hawks 3 Coton Cosmos 1
Cambs Mini League, under-11
TWO goals from Jack Krempel and a late goal from Anders Pilley helped Hawks to a comfortable win as Coton were kept in check by a strong defensive display.

Castle Camps 2 St Ives Rangers 0
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-11A
CASTLE Camps stepped up their performance from the previous week's disappointment to beat a strong Rangers side. They had a couple of good chances before Brandon Westley fired in a free kick to give his side the lead. However, further

West Wrattling 3 Willingham 2
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C
WRATTING ground out their sixth win of the season to maintain their 100 per cent record. However, they were indebted to goalkeeper Millar, who capped a fine performance with a brilliant last-gasp penalty save. Although Willingham opened the scoring, two goals from Lambert - one a penalty - and Gedny put Wrattling 3-1 ahead before the away side's late flurry.

Gamlingay 4 Hundon Hawks 2
Cambs Mini League, under-11
HAWKS dominated the first half and took a 2-1 lead after goals by Branham Ince and Jack Krempel, both goals being set up by the man-of-the-match Milo Holmes. However, Hundon's defensive frailties allowed the home side to take control.

It's just hell for Angels

Delaware Feather Angels 2 Newton Orient 3
Treadfirst Sudbury and District Sunday League, Division Five

DESPITE holding the lead twice, Delaware still plunged to defeat. After an even first half, which saw both sides working play from end to end, Delaware went into the break 1-0 ahead thanks to Chris Stock's shot on the turn.

Orient were level 10 minutes after the break, but, against the run of play, Angels restored their advantage when Mark Bailey rifled in from close range.

It did not take long for Orient to equalise again, before a well-worked goal sealed victory, despite Angels' keeper Fielden making a good save in the build-up.

Hope for the future as Haverhill look to grow

HAVERHILL are flying high at the top of the Eastern Counties Division Two table.

They earned their fourth win out of four after a home walkover against Lakenham Hewett last weekend.

And now they are hoping to use their good start to the season to help the club grow.

Haverhill are aiming to strengthen their second XV, which has had to cancel a number of matches over the last three seasons as numbers have dwindled.

The average age of the squad has dropped from the early 30s to 24 as players have moved on. But as those that have stepped up have come from within the club, it has stretched their resources.

Tony Hope, the chairman of the playing committee, believes they are missing out on locally-based players to other clubs in the area.

"We seem to be losing a lot of local talent and a very good skills base, which in turn would perhaps give us the opportunity to strive forward in our leagues and also strengthen our playing base considerably," said Hope.

"While being strong off the park, the club have a great deal to offer their members in that the yearly subs are very competitive, and the off-field functions are well catered for – not only the players but also their families.

"Which leads us on to the family side of the club. From the mini/midi section through to the seniors, the club is a very friendly place to be.

"Off the field, the rugby is very well followed by a fervent non-playing membership, who give the home side a great deal of support at home as well as away."

Andy Price is the senior coach and is in his second season in charge, and they train on Tuesday evenings from 7pm. The second XV are in the top half of the Suffolk Merit League Two.

"All players of any standard will be most welcome to help take us to greater heights that the club deserves," said Hope. "If you do not want to play but take up a coaching role, we can help out on that front as well."

The mini/midi Sunday mornings are from 10.30am, the youths Wednesday night from 7pm and Sunday mornings from 10.30am, and the ladies train on Saturday mornings from 10.30am.

COACHES PROUD AS TOWN'S 13 PUT UP GOOD SHOW

Haverhill 5
Saffron Walden 32
Under-13

THE new side's coaches were left feeling proud after an inspirational performance by a side which could only muster 13 players.

Outstanding performances by Adam Slack and Justin Hall, plus impressive debuts by Dan Dockerill and Kyle Clarke, helped keep the team working as a unit. Coach Derren Slack said: "Fifty minutes on a full-size pitch is hard work for my lads. I wish we could just get at least five or so more to come training, then the boys and team can really start to benefit and move to that next level of development."

Hadleigh 10
Haverhill 5
Under-15

HAVERHILL dominated last season's matches against Hadleigh, but the boot could be on the other foot this season, when a stronger, determined home side showed their rivals the level of commitment they will need this season. The visitors never got to grips with the narrow pitch and did not adjust their backs game to an opposition blitz defence that played right on the edge of offside.

The first try on 20 minutes came when Haverhill lost the ball at the breakdown, which bought a stern lecture from the coaches during the conversion attempt. However the visitors were rewarded for a slight improvement when Dom Farnell went over. But Hadleigh immediately responded with their second try to lead 10-5 at the break.

The home side controlled the second period to leave their opponents visibly annoyed with the performance. More rugby – Page 51▶

Brad's the ways to do it, Rovers

Haverhill Rovers 3
Felixstowe & Walton 0
Ridgeons League, Premier Div
A BRAD Hickman hat-trick ensured Rovers returned to winning ways and moved up four places in the league table on Saturday.

He opened the scoring in the seventh minute after Marcus Hunt headed on Scott Wilby's cross, but Rovers were unable to add to their lead before half time.

It took just five minutes of the second half for them to score again though, Hickman running on to a through ball from Louis Harper before slotting past the keeper.

He completed his hat-trick in the 67th minute, a fine 20-yard effort after again being put through by Harper.

Rovers face a tough league trip to Wroxham on Saturday.

Stanway Rov 2 Haverhill Rov 3
Ridgeons League Cup, first round

TWO goals from Jamie Challis helped Haverhill come from 2-0 down with 15 minutes to go to defeat Stanway.

He scored the first two goals – the equaliser coming in the 80th minute – with substitute Martin Westcott scoring the winner four minutes from time.
